LONDON, SEPTEMBER 6.

It is aſſerted that Admiral Elphinſtone was not an officer of conſideration in the Eaſt-India ſervice, as has been aſſerted in ſome of the papers, but ſome years ſince commanded a veſſel in the Weſt-India trade, and was afterwards preferred to the rank of a Lieutenant through the intereſt of the worthy Lord Beſborough; about which time he married the daughter of Mr. Warburton, the Somerſet Herald, in Doctors-Commons, a young lady of great beauty and merit, by whom he had two ſons, one of whom is now with him in the Levant, and the other under the protection of the Czarina at Peterſburgh.

The Ruſſian ſquadron, mentioned in the papers to be daily expected at Portſmouth, is the ſame which arrived at Elſineur, in Denmark, the 21ſt of July, and conſiſts of no more than three ſhips of war, two of them mounting 64, and the other 56 guns. They have under convoy fourteen large Engliſh tranſport ſhips, containing vaſt quantities of ammunition, and 2500 ſoldiers, who are to ſerve to recruit their ſhips now in the Morea.

Letters from Italy, by the laſt mail, adviſe, that it is thought moſt of the ſtates in that part of the world will refuſe admittance to the Ruſſian ſhips, that have been in the late engagement with the Turks, and particularly to thoſe that ſhall have with them any Turkiſh prize-ſhips, leſt they ſhall import the plague.

By a letter from Mahon, dated July 31, we have advice, that the Daniſh ſquadron which put in there to refit after the bombardment of Algiers, and alſo to ſtay there till they were reinforced, are now joined by three line of battle ſhips, who have brought with them ſome experienced engineers; and that they were preparing to return to the bombardment of Algiers; but it is ſaid that the Dey has made an offer to accommodate matters, by reſtoring all the Danes they have taken, to their liberty, and to pay at a certain time part of the expence they have been at in fitting out the fleet, &c. but theſe offers have been rejected, as the Danes inſiſt upon the whole expence being immediately paid, and alſo all damages they have ſuſtained, and their immediate delivering up the Danes they have made ſlaves of; but no anſwer has been given to theſe laſt propoſals. The plague rages almoſt in every part of Barbary.

The Parliament of Britanny has iſſued an arret the 14th, ordering two printed memorials, lately publiſhed in vindication of the Duke d'Aiguillon, to be torn and burnt by the hands of the common hangman, as tending, by the falſeſt and raſheſt aſſertions, to annihilate the conſtitution of the province, to attack its fundamental principles, to deſtroy and render illuſory, its rights, franchiſes, and liberties; to ſow diſcord among the three orders which compoſe the ſtates and the parliaments; to eſtabliſh the moſt fatal diffidence between the province and the adminiſtrators; between the nation and the miniſtry; between the prince and the ſubject, &c. tending by its views, its principles and inſinuations, to diſhonour and ſlander the nation and the parliaments; tending to erect an infamous prying into a legal and common means of adminiſtration, not leſs contrary to the mildneſs of government, as to the candour of manners; as calumnious in the aſſertions therein contained; falſe in its principles, injurious in its conſequences, and directly contrary to the reſpect that every citizen owes to the arrets and members of the court. The parliament ordered this arret to be printed."

It is reported that a ſcheme is under conſideration to augment the pay of ſeamens wages on board the royal navy to thirty ſhillings per month, which, together with a more equitable diſtribution of prize-money, and lopping off the exorbitant perquiſites of navy purſers, will be an effectual means to induce ſailors to prefer the government's to the merchants ſervice.

Letters from Peterſburgh, dated Auguſt 13, adviſe, that the Empreſs hath received a confirmation of the two late important victories gained by the army of General Romanzoff over the Turks, viz. on the 18th of July and on the firſt of Auguſt; on which account Te Deum has been ſung.

The report prorogated about the exchange, that the Spaniards had ſtopped two millions of ſpecie at Cadiz, and ſeized ſome of our ſhips in that harbour, we are aſſured is without foundation, letters of a late date from thence, and alſo from Gibraltar, not mentioning any thing of that kind.

Extract of a letter from Paris, dated Auguſt 27.

"The parliament of Bourdeaux paſſed a reſolution the 13th of this month, on the letters patent publiſhed at Verſailles, at the bed of juſtice the 27th of June, concerning the Duke d'Aiguillon and one Audouard, in which (after having read and conſidered under ten different heads, the letters patent, regiſtered at Verſailles the 4th of April, together with the ſpeeches made in the King's name the ſame day, and on the 27th of June) it is ſet forth, "that from the diſcuſſion of theſe letters patent it reſults, that the Duke d'Aiguillon and the ſaid Audouard, remain both of them under the yoke of the accuſation; that letters patent, however regular they may be ſuppoſed, could not even then juſtify in reality; that in impeachments of a weighty nature, when the party accuſed points out his enemies and knows his accuſers, the law cannot find one innocent, without finding another guilty; cannot clear without diſgracing; cannot acquit without inflicting penalties; that even the meaſure of the vengeance is the meaſure of the juſtification; that beſides, authority, annihilating in the letters patent the act which annuls the proceedings of Britanny, from whence the accuſation reached the throne, by that proſcription, cauſes the proceedings to revive, and opens again the mouth of the accuſer; that if the Duke d'Aiguillon by not reclaiming againſt the letter patent has ſacrificed his delicacy to his reſpect for the King's orders, all the courts of parliament ought nevertheleſs to ſolicit his Majeſty, not to accept the ſacrifice of the honour of a citizen, a Frenchman, a peer of France, and a member of that auguſt court, of which he is the head; that no ſtate intereſt can require it; that the honour of all the members of a company is in ſolido among them, and conſtitutes a common patrimony which belongs to all; that it is then, for all the courts of parliament, a duty and a right, to challenge the honour of the Duke d'Aiguillon; that ſuch is the law of honour in the courts of juſtice, and among Frenchmen, that the impeachment alone takes off from the dignity of the Duke d'Auguillon, the faireſt of his rights; that at the door of every ſanctuary of juſtice, he will be repulſed by this accuſation; that honour forbids him to ſhew among the judges of the nation, among the miniſters of the law, a miniſter whom the law diſavows; that therefore the Duke d'Aiguillon impeached, ſhall not take his ſeat in court, as a member thereof, in his capacity of peer of France, until, by a legal judgment, conformable to the laws of the kingdom, the want of which nothing can ſupply, he ſhall have been fully cleared of the accuſation that ſtains his honour. Reſolved, that for all theſe conſiderations, the King ſhall be moſt earneſtly and moſt humbly ſupplicated, to withdraw the letters patent, publiſhed at the bed of juſtice the 27th of June laſt."

It is the opinion of many perſons that the late conduct of Portugal towards our merchants at Liſbon, and particularly with regard to the ſcandalous impriſonment of Mr. Connel, a reſpectable Engliſh merchant there, will, if not atoned for, be productive of a ſpirited act of reſentment by our court.

SEPTEMBER 13. Yeſterday there was a great levee at St. James's, and afterwards a cabinet council, which did not break up till near five o'clock.

Tueſday evening Earl Gower arrived at his houſe at Whitehall, from his ſeat at Trentham-hall in Staffordſhire, and yeſterday attended the council at St. James's.

Yeſterday morning the Right Hon. the Earl of Northington arrived in town from the Grange, and was afterwards at Court.

Letters from Malta, received by the laſt mail, aſſert, that on board Admiral Spiridoff's ſhip, which was blown up in the engagement with the Turkiſh Admiral, (a particular account of which was given in the Ledger of Tueſday September 4) there were 500,000 rubles, intended for paying the Ruſſian fleet. A ruble is rated at about 4s. 6d.

Admiral Elphinſtone, (beſides his gallant behaviour at St. Cas, mentioned by General Bligh,) when captain of the Richmond frigate, of 32 guns and 220 men, drove aſhore and deſtroyed on the coaſt of Holland, January 24, 1761, the Felicité, a French frigate of the ſame force, with a cargo valued at 30,000l. after a ſharp engagement of two hours, towards the end of which, both ſhips ran aſhore along-ſide of each other, but the Richmond ſoon after got afloat. The French captain and near 100 of his men were killed or wounded. This action happened cloſe to Graveſande, in the ſight of the Prince Stadholder, and numbers of people whom curioſity brought thither; and Count d'Affry, the French Ambaſſador afterwards reclaimed the ſhip and cargo of the States-General, on pretence of their neutrality being violated; but to no purpoſe. Captain Elphinſtone was, on this occaſion, introduced by Lord Anſon to the late King, February 8, and was moſt graciouſly received. In Sir George Pocock's account of the operations at the Havana, he is alſo mentioned in the following terms: "The Richmond luckily joined us, May 28. She had been down the old Straits [of Bahama] to Cayo Sal; and Captain Elphinſtone had been very diligent and careful in his remarks going through and returning back, having taken ſketches of the land and Cayos on both ſides. He kept a-head of the fleet, and led us through very well." Captain Elphinſtone was afterwards appointed to the command of the Firm, of 60 guns.

Monday arrived at Dover three Ruſſian ſhips of the line, attended by twelve tranſports, bound up the Mediterranean.

It is ſaid, that the Zealand, a Daniſh ſhip of war, on board of which was Admiral Kaas, was ſo battered by the guns from the Mole, which ſecures the entrance at the mouth of the harbour of Algiers, that ſhe was obliged to be towed out of the bay, having received a ſhot between wind and water. Several of the [illegible] who ſerved in the French train of artillery at the battles of Fontenoy and Lafelt, and the ſieges of Nieuport and Bergen-op-zoom, are now employed by that republic.

It is ſaid by accounts from Dantzick, that the plague decreaſes in Poland.

Extract of a letter from Paris, dated September 5.

"Some politicians here are of opinion that, notwithſtanding the pains which the miniſter of this court, and that of Great-Britain ſeem to take, in order to maintain the peace between the two nations, affairs are nevertheleſs in ſuch a ſituation, as it will be impoſſible to regulate them to mutual ſatisfaction, without coming to an open rupture.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Auguſt 31.

"On the 23d inſtant one of the members having informed the parliament of the two counſellors of the parliament of Brittany's being taken up as they came out from the King's apartment the 20th inſtant, a committee was appointed to meet the 27th, in order to conſider what ſhould be done in conſequence of that proceeding. On that day the King's counſel reported to the parliament aſſembled, that they had an audience of the King the Saturday before; and that they had ſcarcely begun to execute the commiſſion they were charged with, when the King interrupted them and ſaid, "So long as the indecent expreſſions contained in the reſolutions of the firſt of Auguſt remain unerazed, I will never liſten to the repreſentations of my parliament." That after repeated by entreating to be heard, his Majeſty ordered them to acquit themſelves of the commiſſion they were charged with, which they accordingly did: That with the reſpect to the ſecond object of it, his Majeſty told them he would hear the repreſentations of his parliament next Sunday, but inſiſted that none but the firſt preſident and two other preſidents ſhould come to him. When the King's counſel were withdrawn, it was agreed that the firſt preſident, and two other preſidents, ſhould go to Verſailles next Sunday, to make repreſentations to the King upon the prohibitions laid upon the Princes and Peers; and as to thoſe which the King's counſel were charged with concerning the ſignification of the arret of council, which broke that which the parliament iſſued againſt the Duke of Aiguillon, the conſideration was referred to another day.

"It is aſſured that the two magiſtrates of Brittany who were arreſted, were ſent priſoners, one to Pierre-en-ciſe, and the other to Mont St. Michael.

"The Marechal d'Armentieres who commands at Mentz, cauſed his garriſon to be put under arms, and went in great ſtate to the parliament to get the free gift or octroi regiſtered, which the King demands of the towns, and which the parliament always objected to, to get the arret eraſed which was paſſed againſt Meſſ. de Calonne and de Fleſſelles, and to regiſter that of the council which annuls it. All the parliament retired except the firſt preſident, the attorney-general, and the greffier, to whom the marſhal delivered a lettre de cachet from the King, ordering them to ſtay while the buſineſs directed by the court was done. As ſoon as the marſhal went away the parliament aſſembled again, and proteſted againſt what had been done, confirmed the arret againſt the two intendants, and forbad the raiſing of the free gift."

SEPTEMBER 18. Yeſterday morning ſome diſpatches arrived in town from Lord Catheart, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador at the Ruſſian court, and alſo from two other courts, which were immediately forwarded by meſſengers to his Majeſty at Richmond.

Accounts from Toulon, arrived yeſterday, ſay, that the Dey of Tunis had abſolutely refuſed to liſten to any accommodation with the French; and that both parties were preparing to renew their hoſtilities.

The preparations now making at Portſmouth, Plymouth, and Chatham, are no more than cuſtomary, and the forces that are going abroad are the five following regiments, which are for the garriſons of Gibraltar and Minorca, viz. ſecond battalion of the firſt or royal regiment of foot, fifty-firſt, fifty-fifth, ſixty-eighth and ſixty-firſt regiments of foot, which are to relieve the five following regiments; the third, eleventh, nineteenth, thirtieth, and ſixty-ſeventh. This exchange of troops of courſe requires a fleet of men of war to carry them, which fleet is to relieve thoſe ſhips that are on that ſtation. As to the other ſhips fitting out, the miniſtry are to be commended for it, as the manning a fleet of obſervation and ſupplying the magazines with ſtores, are neceſſary meaſures at this juncture. This ſhould rather increaſe the public credit, than be the cauſe of lowering it; for by theſe means we ſhall be ready to anſwer any inſult which may be offered us by our enemies, and thus a war may poſſibly be avoided.

SEPTEMBER 19. There are letters in town from Conſtantinople, which inform, that that unhappy city now labours under all the horrors of an approaching famine, there being at preſent a great ſcarcity; all the ſupplies both from the Black Sea and the Propontis being cut off by the Ruſſians.

They write from Leghorn, that fourteen capital ſhips of the Ruſſian fleet, have already paſſed the Dardanelles uninterrupted, under cover of the night.

By a letter from Cadiz, there is advice of the ſailing from that port for the Havana, of a Spaniſh man of war of ſixty guns, with a Lieutenant-General of his Catholic Majeſty's troops on board, and 28 large cannon, 11,115 bullets, and 8330 fuzees.

Biſhop Lloyd, many years ſince, foretold from the Revelations the deſtruction of the Turkiſh empire; Whiſton, who was laughed at by the wits for it, actually fixed the final ruin of the Ottomans to the preſent period, or very near it.

SEPTEMBER 20. The Turkey company have lately received ſome very intereſting advices from the Britiſh Ambaſſador at the court of Conſtantinople, anſwers to which are now preparing by the ſecretaries of the ſaid ſociety.

Extract of a letter from Gibraltar, Auguſt 20.

"We have juſt received advice here, that the Daniſh ſquadron before Algiers has been reinforced by three ſhips of the line, three large frigates, and ſeveral bomb-ketches; that they ſoon after began to bombard Algiers afreſh; that they had made a breach, had knocked down ſome battlements, and diſmounted ſeveral of their guns; that the Dey had ſent to the Admiral freſh propoſitions, on which account they ceaſed firing, and called a council of war to deliberate on them, and after a ſhort time rejected them; on which the firing was again renewed very briſkly, and continued ſo when the advice-boat came away."

Letters from Toulon, dated Auguſt 13, inform us, that a Venetian ſhip, arrived there, had brought ſeveral French ſubjects, who left Tunis the 23d June, (when the French ſquadron was before that place) and had performed quarantine at Venice. They bring the following account of the proceedings of the French fleet before that place. They arrived in the road the 21ſt, and immediately demanded of the Bey a reſtitution of all the Corſicans who had been made ſlaves ſince the French had been in poſſeſſion of that iſland, 200,000 livres for the African company, to indemnify them for the loſſes they had ſuſtained by being driven from the coral fiſhery, and 800,000 livres to defray the expence of the armament ſent againſt them. Next day an officer came on board the ſhip of M. de Broves, Commandant of the French armament, who delivered to him a letter for the Bey, ordering him to ſend one of his miniſters to him on board, to which an anſwer was returned the ſame day from the Bey, in which he ſaid, that there were ſeveral words in the letter which he could not comprehend, and which he ſuppoſed had not been properly tranſlated. The 25th the Commandant wrote again, and on the 26th the ſon-in-law of the Bey came on board, and on his going away prohibited to return the 27th with an anſwer, but afterwards demanded a delay till the 30th. The Commandant, finding they were only amuſing him, immediately declared war, and notified it to the Bey. M. de Broves being taken ill, M. de Faucher was charged to purſue the operations, and the 4th of July, in the evening, the firſt bomb was thrown, which ſet fire to ſome galliots, and as they were thrown continually the fire from their fort ſoon ceaſed.----From five in the evening to ſeven the next morning 105 bombs were thrown with ſuch exactneſs, as greatly to terrify the inhabitants. The arrival of a veſſel which then brought a letter, put a ſtop to the firing for that time; by this letter the Bey appeared to acquieſce in our demands; but it was found to have been written before the bombardment; and while we were conſidering it, the Bey having diſcovered the bombardment had not done ſo great damage as was firſt apprehended, he ſoon ſent another meſſenger, and declared war in form againſt the French, and they were preparing to bombard them afreſh when theſe laſt advices left them.

Letters from Minorca mention, that purſuant to orders from England, the dock-yards at Mahone, and other parts of the iſland, had been got ready for the reception, and occaſional heaving down of ſuch men of war as may have occaſion for careening or other neceſſary repairs.

The laſt letters from Venice mention, that an earthquake had lately happened at Cephalonia, a Greek iſland ſubject to that republic, which did conſiderable damage at Argoſtoli and Lixuri; the ſea was obſerved to ebb and flow ſucceſſively for the ſpace of thirty-eight minutes.

The differences between the republic of Genoa and the town of San Remo are at length terminated. The republic is to retain its ſovereignty over that place, and the fortreſs, which was conſtructed in 1736, is to remain in its preſent ſtate. The inhabitants of St. Remo are to have the privileges they enjoyed before 1755 confirmed to them, but they are to reimburſe to the Genoeſe all the expences they have incurred, and pay the debts they have contracted during the conteſt.

Extract of a letter from Cadiz, Auguſt 17.

"The Marquis de Vanmarck, Lieutenant-General in the army, and lately appointed Commandant of this province, is juſt arrived here, in order to examine, as well into the ſtate of the fortifications of this place, as into thoſe of the Bay and its environs."

Extract of a letter from Plymouth, September 16.

"I ſuppoſe that you have heard we are in a great hurry with the ſhips fitting out here; their names are as follow, viz. Hero, 74 guns; Cornwall, 74; Defence, 74; Temeraire, 74; Belliſle, 64; Prince of Wales, 74; Firm, 60; all ſeven getting ready as faſt as poſſible; to have three months proviſions for their full compliment of men. I ſuppoſe it will be my turn next, as it is the opinion of moſt people we ſhall have a war ſoon."

Extract of a letter from Portſmouth, September 10.

"Yeſterday was held a court-martial on board the Achilles ſhip of war, on a captain of the royal navy, when, after a hearing of eight hours, he was ordered to be ſeverely reprimanded.

"The following are the ſhips getting ready at our port for ſea, viz.--Achilles, Ajax, Centaur, Arrogant, St. Antonio, Bellona, and Rippon.

"On Saturday laſt began an entry of ſhipwrights for this dock-yard."

Extract of a letter from Chatham, September 15.

"The Lords of the Admiralty have ordered the following ſhips to be fitted out at this port, for channel ſervice, with the greateſt expedition, which are to have their full complement of men, as in time of war, viz. the Ramilies, of 74 guns; Auguſta, of 64; Yarmouth, of 64; Cerberus, of 64; and the King's Fiſher ſloop, of 14, lately launched. The Albion, of 74, is ordered to be fitted for a guardſhip.

"They have alſo given orders to enter a number of the following artificers, and on the ſame eſtabliſhment as were employed in the year 1764, viz. ſhipwrights, caulkers, blackſmiths, joiners, houſe-carpenters, bricklayers, and ſail-makers; excluſive of a great number of riggers, and riggers labourers, who have very lately been entered, for the quicker diſpatch of making rigging for Portſmouth yard.

"We daily expect ſeveral more principal ſhips to be commiſſioned at this port, as we are in great expectation of a war.

"The Portland, of 50 guns, and the Minerva, of 32 guns, are ordered to be fitted at Sheerneſs.

Extract of a letter from the Hague, September 14.

"Yeſterday Prince Gallitzin, the Ruſſian miniſter here, had a conference with the States General, and communicated to their High Mightineſſes the important news, that the Khan of the Grim Tartars, with 80,000 men, had been ſurrounded by the Ruſſians, and was treating with the court of Peterſburgh upon terms of his releaſement; the conditions of which we impatiently expect."

SEPTEMBER 21. Yeſterday morning an expreſs arrived at St. James's, from the Honourable Mr. Murray, our Ambaſſador at the Ottoman Porte, ſaid to contain diſpatches of importance relative to the war between the Czarina and the Grand Signior.

Yeſterday morning Lord Hillſborough arrived in town from Ireland, and immediately waited upon his Majeſty at Richmond.

A treaty of moment is on the carpet between our court and that of Turin.

The Empreſs Queen has given orders for aſſembling an army of 30,000 horſe and foot on the frontiers of Hungary, which cauſes much ſpeculation among the northern powers.

A wager of 100 guineas to 50 has been laid by a popular Baronet, that the Kings of France, England, Spain, Portugal, and Pruſſia, will all be engaged in a war before the expiration of the preſent year.

Bets of eight to three were laid on Wedneſday night in the city that the Boſtonians would import goods before the end of next month.

Letters are received which affirm, that a treaty is actually concluded between Spain and Portugal; which is another additional connection to the ſtrength of the united Houſe of Bourbon.

In caſe a war ſhould break out between England, France, and Spain, a correſpondent ſays, we may thank the late peace-makers, who had it in their power to have ſecured the repoſe of Europe for at leaſt half a century.

Wedneſday upwards of 2000 young fellows entered as volunteers at the different rendezvous houſes at the Hermitage and Wapping.

Wedneſday night a preſs-gang viſited, unexpectedly, ſeveral houſes of ill-fame in Covent-garden and Drury-lane, and carried off a number of idle bullies, who had long been the terror and nuiſance of that neighbourhood.

Some armed veſſels, we hear, are ordered to cruize in the channel, to pick up able-bodied ſeamen out of the homeward bound ſhips.

It is ſaid, that the Eaſt-India company have received orders to provide their outward bound ſhips the uſual ſtores now as in time of war.

The regiments ordered to Minorca, in order to relieve the troops already there, and which were to have ſailed in a few days, were on Wedneſday countermanded; and it is thought, they will be ſent to Jamaica.

Letters from America mention, that Sir William Johnſon intends ſhortly to ſet out for England.

Letters from Leghorn mention, that the French have lately tranſported ſeveral regiments of infantry from Toulon and Antibes, to augment the garriſons in the iſland of Corſica.

Extract of a letter from Paris, September 14.

"The parliament of Rouen have come to the following undaunted reſolution:

"Reſolved, That his Majeſty ſhall be moſt humbly entreated to conſider, that there never was a more cruel ſituation than that of his parliament, who animated with the moſt ardent deſire to concur in the re-eſtabliſhment of peace, is nevertheleſs denounced as guilty of intentions the moſt oppoſite to that tranquility, of which it feels the indiſpenſable neceſſity.

"That the ſending to the other courts of parliament, is neither criminal in its object, nor dangerous in its conſequences; that if his Majeſty will vouchſafe to look into the motives, which his parliament has laid before him, in its reſolution of the 7th of this month, he will ſee nothing more in that tranſaction, than the lawful uſe of a faculty of right, examples of which have never produced any of thoſe fatal effects which his Majeſty is induced to apprehend, and from which nothing could reſult but a greater number of reſpectful repreſentations, which cannot be diſpleaſing to a King, who is a friend to truth, and is willing to know her.

"That his parliament has ſeen with aſtoniſhment, that the ſaid Lord the King has been made to conſider, as an act capable of breaking the ſilence enjoined by the levers patents of the 12th of Auguſt 1769, an arret, which preſcribes memorials, in which all the tranſactions that are called the troubles of the province, are not only ript up, but where great pains are taken to reduce into principles and make the cauſe of them revive, by multiplying the ſubjects of diviſion and jealouſy.

"That if his parliament cannot miſtake the ſource whence flow ſo many diſgraces incompatible with the ſpirit of benevolence and juſtice of his Majeſty, it is ſtill more alarmed at the conſequences which its enemies hope from it; that ſo many acts of power, employed without neceſſity, at a time when it would be more beneficial for the King's ſervice, and the tranquility of the nation, to remove all occaſion of diviſion, and eſtabliſh confidence, diſcloſes a plan formed to plunge the parliament and the province in a ſtate ſtill more grievous than that from which they are ſo lately delivered.

"That his parliament cannot diſpenſe with repreſenting to him, that the multiplied acts of ſeverity, and the diſguſts of every kind, which the miniſters of the laws experience, cannot but render them contemptible, weaken their authority, and leſſen, if it were poſſible, their zeal for the welfare of his ſervice; that his parliament has the additional grief to behold, that after the ſending for eighteen of its members, two of them have been carried off, after the audience of the ſaid Lord the King, in the midſt of his court, and in the face of the nation; that diſgraces ſo characteriſed would not permit it to attend to other objects, and terminate its ſittings, were it not perſuaded that the ſaid Lord the King, informed of the purity of their intentions, and of their inviolable fidelity, will reſtore them forthwith to the entreaties, which his parliament will not ceaſe to carry to the foot of the throne.

"In conſequence, the ſaid court, at breaking up, has given in charge to the Chamber of Vacations, to employ every means, that its zeal for its irreproachable brethren, its reſpect and fidelity for the ſaid Lord the King, ſhall ſuggeſt."

The Spaniards have lately launched two new ſhips of war at Carthagena, and another is almoſt ready at Cadiz.

Orders are given for the keels of two 74 gun ſhips to be laid with all expedition at the King's yard Woolwich.

SEPTEMBER 25. His Majeſty has appointed William Taylor, Eſq; to be Fort-Adjutant of fort St. Philip, in the iſland of Minorca, in the room of James Gore, Eſq; promoted.

It is reported, that a few days ſince the merchants in the Turkey trade applied to Lord North, to know the deſtination of the fleet now fitting out, (as certain information on that head was a matter of no ſmall importance to them) when his lordſhip waved acquainting them with the part of the world it was deſigned for, but declared it was not intended for the Mediterranean.

Sir Perer Dennis is appointed to command the grand fleet of obſervation for the Mediterranean.

On Saturday ſome hundreds of commiſſions were made out for different officers.

Captain Ellis is appointed captain of the Namur.

[illegible] is to command the Arrow.

And the Honourable Auguſtus Hervey to the Queen's Yacht.

Sir Edward Hawke is determined to make no promotions in the navy, till all the officers are employed from half-pay.

It is the general opinion that the Dorſetſhire and Edgar men of war, which ſailed ſome time ſince, are gone to Falkland iſlands. The laſt accounts from thoſe iſlands, brought by the Tamar ſloop, Captain Hunt, and the Florida ſtore-ſhip, (which arrived at the end of May) were, that whilſt they lay there, at Port Egmont, two Spaniſh frigates, of 30 guns each, having a regiment on board, arrived there, and pretended to be ſurpriſed at finding the Engliſh, who they inſiſted ſhould evacuate it. This Captain Hunt refuſed; upon which the Spaniſh commanding officer landed, and took poſſeſſion in the name of his Catholic Majeſty, and allowed the Engliſh officer ſix months to evacuate the iſland. Captain Hunt left the Favourite ſloop of war and a ſtore-ſhip at Port Egmont.

Yeſterday morning there was a hot preſs about Wapping, when they got a great number of ſeamen.

SEPTEMBER 28.

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, R.

WHEREAS our parliament ſtands prorogued to Tueſday the thirteenth day of November next; We, with the advice of the privy council, do hereby publiſh and declare our royal will and pleaſure, that the ſaid parliament ſhall, on the ſaid thirteenth day of November next, be held and ſit for the diſpatch of divers weighty and important affairs. And the lords ſpiritual and temporal, and the knights, citizens, and burgeſſes, and the commiſſioners for ſhires and burghs of the Houſe of Commons, are hereby required to give their attendance accordingly, at Weſtminſter, on the ſaid thirteenth day of November next.

Given at our Court at St. James's, the twenty-ſixth day of September, one thouſand ſeven hundred and ſeventy, in the tenth year of our reign.

God ſave the KING.

Tueſday laſt a letter was ſent by the miniſtry to the Lord-Mayor, to inform him, that a grand council would be held in a few days, concerning the preſent critical ſituation of affairs with reſpect to Spain; and to aſſure his Lordſhip, that he ſhould be immediately acquainted with the determination thereupon.

A ſpirited memorial is diſpatched to the court of Spain, demanding their immediate evacuation of the Falkland iſlands.

The courier ſent to Madrid had orders to wait only nine hours for an anſwer from the Spaniſh court, and then to ſet out on his return, even though he ſhould not be furniſhed with any in that time.

It is ſaid that orders have been given to the Purſuivants of Arms, at the Herald's office, not for any of them to be out of town, but to be within an hour's warning.

We hear, that the Spaniſh miniſter at this court has declared, that the taking of Falkland iſlands was done by the Governor of Buenos Ayres, without the order or knowledge of his court.

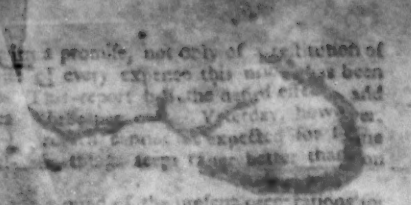
The commander of the Favourite ſloop of war from Falkland iſlands, has, we hear, been introduced to his Majeſty, and honoured with a private conference.

It is ſaid, that the papers of the Favourite ſloop of war were examined before the board of admiraly held yeſterday, and referred for further inſpection.

Mr. Lyttleton, it is ſaid, is to return immediately to Liſbon in his former character.

It is ſaid that the power given to the Britiſh Ambaſſador to Liſbon is deciſive---a full and immediate redreſs of grievances---or war.

The report of 'Change Alley on Wedneſday was, that the courier had returned from Madrid with an aſſurance, that the Spaniſh court greatly condemned the conduct of their officers in the South Seas, reſpecting their treatment of the Engliſh at Falk-



...astronomers, to make obſervations, and afterwards to go i... track to make diſcoveries, has been ſunk, with all i..., by order of a jealous court, who has committed oth... ...ities againſt us in the ſouthern hemiſphere.

...Banks and the famous Dr. Solander were on board the ... veſſel, and are feared to have ſhared the common fate with ...ſt of the ſhip's company.

SEPTEMBER 29. It is the talk that many conſiderable per...ns, who not long ſince made a jeſt of the people's grievances ...prehenſions, are now actually trembling with apprehenſions ...e legal grievances falling ſoon on themſelves.

...reported, that three regiments of foot will ſoon be em... for the Weſt-Indies, to augment and ſtrengthen the diffe... garriſons on the Britiſh iſlands.

...ouncil is ſummoned to meet at Richmond to-morrow; at ... the Lords North, Chatham, and Rochford, are ordered ...nd.

...Spaniſh Ambaſſador no longer ago than Tueſday morning, ... an abſolute diſavowal to the miniſtry, of his ever having ...d any intimation, from his court of their deſigns againſt ...nd iſlands, or any account of their having carried thoſe ...s into execution. He had indeed, he owned, heard through ...channels, of a kind of ſquabble there between the ſubjects ... two crowns, but not as a meaſure authorized by either ...

...was yeſterday the opinion of the political connoiſſeurs in the ...ms of St. James's, that the late prorogation of the parlia... muſt be reſcinded, and that there will be an actual neceſſity ...h houſes to meet for the diſpatch of buſineſs in a fortnight or three weeks.

We are aſſured, by very reſpectable authority, that it is beyond a doubt, that Lord Chatham ſo ſettled his means of information, that his intelligence of the ſecret movements and deſigns of the various powers of Europe, is frequently conveyed to him before the ambaſſadors here of ſuch reſpective courts are acquainted with them themſelves. It is affirmed, that his Lordſhip knew of the determination and orders of the Spaniſh cabinet, relative to the diſpoſſeſſing us of Falkland iſlands, within fourteen days from the time that ſuch reſolution was taken.

CHARLES-TOWN, NOVEMBER 20.

HIS Majeſty's Packet Boat the Sandwich, Captain Richard Nottingham, is arrived at Falmouth, from this Port.

We hear that another new Packet Boat is to be built here, to be employed to and from this Port, Jamaica and Weſt-Florida, and to be commanded by Captain McDonnogh, who lately arrived here from England.

The GENERAL COMMITTEE

Give this Notice to the PUBLIC, That

PHILIP TIDYMAN,

JEWELLER, in BROAD-STREET,

A Subscriber to the GENERAL RESOLUTIONS,

HATH been detected importing, in a secret and clandestine Manner, and in direct Violation of his solemn Engagement, several Cases of Plate, Jewels, and other Goods, to a considerable Value, by the Union, Captain Coombes, from LONDON: And having been examined before the Committee, on Saturday the 29th Instant, to answer for the same, instead of making an ample and ingenuous Confession of his Crime, he obstinately denied the Fact, when confronted by Capt. Coombes's Mate, who declared he had delivered three Cases to Mr. Tidyman himself, more than were mentioned in the Ship's Manifest, or reported by the said Tidyman to the Committee. The said Tidyman confronted with such Proof, promised to deliver up all his Invoices to the Committee; yet still endeavoured to conceal a considerable Part thereof; most of which has been since discovered, by such of his original Invoices as he at different Times produced. The Committee however, are persuaded that the said Tidyman has concealed one of the Cases, which, probably, may be the most valuable: And as, in the whole of this Affair, he has been guilty of the most flagrant Falsehood and Deceit, even so far as to produce a fictitious Letter, pretending, that certain Articles contained in the six Cases reported in the Manifest, were sent him as a Present, from a Kinsman in England; which since appear, by his own Invoice, to contain Merchandize, shipped by his Order, and for his Accompt.---The Committee therefore, at an extra Meeting, on Monday the 29th Instant, required the Attendance of Mr. Tidyman, in order to advise him to discover and re-ship the Whole of the Goods, which he had so treacherously imported:---But he not attending then, or at a subsequent Meeting, and absolutely refusing to appear, the Committee think it their Duty to publish the said PHILIP TIDYMAN, as an audacious and incorrigible Violator of the General Resolutions, deserving the Contempt of every good Man; and it is expected that no Subscriber will, hereafter, have any Dealings with him, unless he shall make full Atonement for his late base and perfidious Behaviour.

October 30, 1770.

AT a Meeting of the CHURCH-WARDENS and VESTRY, of the Parish of St. James, Santee, the following ASSESSMENT was made, for the Relief of the POOR, within the said Parish, viz.—NEGROES, 1*s.* 3*d.* per Head—LANDS, 1*s.* 3*d.* per Hundred Acres—And, MONEY AT INTEREST, 7*d.* Half-penny, per Hundred Pounds. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, to all Non-Residents, as well as Residents, that unless they pay the above Rates to either of us, on or before the first Monday in January next, Executions will be granted against all Defaulters after that Day.
